WELCOME!

Shelter #3 is our headquarters for the weekend.
Tents go in the outfield-- campers and RV's, for that matter
--any wheeled vehicles must stay on the pavement.

There will be 24-hour guards for the area provided by members of the local Society for Creative Anachronism. If you are polite and have your name tag, you shouldn't be in any danger.
And your belongings will be safe while you're away.

The showers are way down by the regular campgrounds-- remember your quarters; they are coin operated.

Since there are people living close to our tent city,
we have been reminded to observe the 10:30pm quiet time.

People wishing to camp over Sunday night will need to make arrangements with the park people and move to the regular campgrounds when the time comes. There will be plenty of room so worry about it later.

Carole Broad is our information person and she'll be located in the pavilion. If you have questions that the first person you ask can't answer, ask her.

Please remember: Wisconsin laws are tough on drunk driving and with cars with open alcohol. Any open alcohol is considered the drivers'.

The tours take us down two lane curvy roads. Beware of cats, kids, cows and deer in the roadways.

MEALS

Fix your own meals, preferably near the pavilion, as a precaution against campground creatures. All of our lunches on tour have been arranged for ..including the vegies in the crowd.
And remember the saturday night potluck.

Important... we are trying to do a lot in a short time.
Please have your cars gassed up and ready to go by 10:30am Sat.

Now that this has all been said..
