

Dear Morris Friends,

Registration information is finally here! Thank you all for your patience. We had a large grant request pending until April 1, so we couldn't finalize the registration fee before then. (insert result here).

We are very excited to be hosting the Ale again, and we expect everyone will have a great time. Tune into the web page for details on the schedule, a picture of the t-shirt design, touring locations, etc. We hope to have everyone assigned to specific tours by May ____.

This packet includes:

- Registration form
- Information on the camp and what you should bring
- Menus for the weekend

There are two prices, one for tenting, and one for indoor lodging. All of the indoor lodging is the same price (?), but different choices have different pros and cons. We'll do our best to get everyone in their first-choice arrangement. Here's the scoop on each:

Lodge rooms: There are several multi-bunk rooms on the second floor of the lodge itself (just under the upstairs dance floor). These are ideal for those who plan on partying and dancing very late into the night. These rooms have central heating and so will be warm regardless of the weather. The downside is that there are no indoor toilets. Showers are in the basement of the lodge.

Cabin rooms: These are in rustic log cabins a short walk from the main lodge. There are woodstoves for warmth at night, but no insulation. The advantages are quiet and indoor toilets/showers. We are setting one cabin aside for families (check the box labeled F) with kids and another one for women (?) (Check the box labeled W).

Other things you need to know about:

Airport pickups:

Bellydancing: If you would like to perform during Sunday's Middle Eastern feast, contact Nancy Sauer (nsauer@rddconsultants.com or 303-665-9413 or in person when you arrive).

Workshops: If you know you want to give a workshop, please contact Steve Winograd (winograd@mvps.org or 303-447-8578 or in person when you arrive) so he can be thinking about how to best assign space to different workshops. Note that there will be only one set of workshops on Sunday—it was that or limit tour stops in the afternoon.

Unaccompanied minors: If any minors will be attending without their parent or legal guardian, we will need a ____ form filled out in advance. Please contact

Top of the World tour: If anyone on your team is planning on joining us for the extra-high-altitude dancing on Monday, please fill out that registration page, too. We would like to know the number who plan on going, and whether you have a surplus of seats (can
